The Township of Ocean Historical Museum

30th Anniversary Celebration

Honoring our past and all those whose hard work and generous support made our dream for the Museum a present-day reality
Preserving the history of a community

The area that is now the Township of Ocean in Monmouth County became bountiful farmland for the earliest Scottish and English settlers in the late 1600s. The land was already inhabited in the summers near the fresh water springs by native Lenape. Here they collected fish from the ocean, rivers, and streams and hunted game in the forests to sustain them through the winter in their camps along the Delaware River.

In the 1700s, a village began to develop near the Brinley Grist Mill on Whalepond Brook. It would become known as Oakhurst. In the 1800s, a village grew up near the Halfway House, a stagecoach stop in what became Wayside. By the early 1900s, lakefront cottages and a popular nightclub had established the beginnings of the Wanamassa section of the Township.

The Museum has woven together records, artifacts, and personal memories to preserve and share the history of these communities and all those that were once within the Township borders. We have saved historic buildings and opened their doors to the public—starting with the Ryan’s Victorian Playhouse and culminating in the rescue of the Eden Woolley House, the Museum’s home since 2009.

Today, the Museum is open at least 50 hours a month. Our three galleries of permanent and changing exhibits and our full calendar of events attract nearly 2,000 people a year. We have created a resource for the region that was voted “Best Museum in Monmouth County” every year that category appeared in the Asbury Park Press Readers’ Poll and was recognized this year for achievement by the County Historical Commission.

We are “an open door to history—our history” and you are invited in!

Township of Ocean Historical Museum
1984 - 2008

The Beginnings

In 1970, Ocean Township Councilman Joseph Palaia suggested the formation of a Historical Society to prepare for the upcoming national Bicentennial in 1976. A group of interested citizens organized and went on to research and mark 25 Centennial Homes, publish an updated history of the community, conduct a Bicentennial Parade and Fair, and collect materials and records relating to local history. The Historical Society met in the room above the Public Library, but records and research were kept in the homes of its members.

In 1981, Peggy Dellinger a member of the League of Women Voters began working with an Ocean Township High School history class to record oral histories from long-time residents and former Township officials.

The need for a local museum to house the interviews, pictures, and materials and make them accessible to the public was apparent. In 1983, The Township of Ocean Board of Education approved the use of a former classroom in the Administration Building for a museum. The resources of the Historical Society were then combined with the newly formed museum organization and the Township of Ocean Historical Museum was created.

In the first 25 years when the Museum was located in the former Oakhurst School, thousands of visitors stopped in the Museum to view nostalgic displays of vintage Ocean Township. During this time the organization continued to add to its collection, saved a Victorian Playhouse from destruction and moved it to the Oakhurst School property, identified and marked over 30 centennial structures, added to its collection of oral histories, published a pictorial history of the Township, conducted classes on local history for every third grader starting in 1988, and held an annual exhibit on local historic themes every December from 1984 to 2007.

Staffed entirely by volunteers, the Museum is open to the public every Tuesday from 1 to 4 P.M...
Eden Woolley House Museum
2008 - 2014
The Dream becomes a Reality

In 1999, the Township Council moved to save the historic Eden Woolley House on the corner of Deal Road and Route 35. The developer of the Route 35 property agreed to move the Woolley House to the Haupt/Terner tract that is the site of the new Public Library on Deal Road. The Council asked the Museum to make its new headquarters in the Woolley house adjacent to the Library, creating a new cultural destination in the Township.

The Woolley land was purchased in 1697 by John Woolley. It extended along Poplar Brook from Poplar Road east to the Palaia Park area. The Route 35 part of this tract was in the Woolley family for 229 years until it was sold in 1926. The oldest part of the Woolley House was built about 1750 by Thomas Woolley. In 1835 the land was sold to Eden Woolley who added the larger section to the house. It was a working farm for over 150 years. In 1939, William Henderson purchased the house and it became an estate with manicured lawns and tennis courts. From 1979 to 1999, the house was part of the Emanuel Terner property.

In 2005, the Woolley House was moved 1500 ft east along Deal Road to Township property in front of the new Library. The Historical Museum volunteers wrote grants, held fund raisers and solicited donations for its restoration. Hundreds of professional and volunteer hours repaired the original windows, replaced rotted cedar siding, reinforced aging beams, painted, plastered and brought the house back to its original condition in time to hold the 2008 Holiday Exhibit in the Museum's new home.

In the past 5 years, since its Grand Opening in 2009, the Museum has been open to the public 50 hours a month, has had over 7,000 visitors, and last year 445 families became members and there were 15,000 visits to our website. This historic and architectural gem has become a cultural destination and institution in our community.

Junior Volunteers 2009 - 2014

Instilling a love of history in the next generation is a vital part of our mission. The teens who work with us as docents, guides, actors and helpers at fund raisers and events are much more than extra hands. They are the future of the Museum and a welcome source of talent and new ideas.

Our Junior Volunteer Program is a way for teens 13 to 17 to get involved. Its fun, informative, and a great way to serve the community. New members are always welcome. Call the Museum at 732-531-2136 for details.

Museum Exhibits

During our first 25 years in the Oakhurst School, the Museum held an exhibit that depicted a landmark, a period of local history, or a topic of nostalgic interest in the School Auditorium on the first weekend in December. Those two days attracted hundreds of visitors.

From 1988 until the present, local railroad collectors have provided a working display of model trains at the December Holiday exhibits attracting the young and “the young at heart”.

In 2008, the first exhibit was held in the Eden Woolley House Museum. Exhibits can now be left in place for extended time as the Museum is open to the public 3 days and 1 evening a week, and 2 Sundays every month. In addition, mini exhibits have been added to the calendar bringing visitors back several times a year.

The Tower

The curious tower structure standing at the edge of the woods behind the Library once housed the water pumps for the Ira Haupt estate known as "Stucile Farm" and the attached cottage housed a caretaker. Its age is unknown but the tower was there in 1931 when Florence and Ira Haupt purchased the gentleman's farm from a Harold Saxton who operated a tea house on the property. The tower and a small cow barn are all that remains of the working farm that raised turkeys, cows, horses and chickens and included a large horse barn, a smaller barn for farm equipment, an ice house, formal English gardens, and greenhouses for orchids. During World War II, the US Army's 113th Infantry division used the tower as a lookout facility. This long standing landmark has been the object of curiosity and speculation.

The Museum is supporting the efforts to preserve and restore the Tower under the direction of Howard "Doc" Richmond. Volunteers have cleaned out the contents, installed electricity, and removed deteriorating siding. Nicholas Borgia of Scout Troop 71, installed a sidewalk and plantings for his Eagle Scout Project. Restoration of the roof, windows and concrete footings are on the drawing board to save this "last of its kind" structure in the Shore Area. Volunteers and support for this project are needed. Call the Museum at 732-531-2136 for details.

Join the all-volunteer Museum team

Whatever your interests and talents, no matter how much or how little the time you have to give, there is a place for you as a volunteer. Many have contributed their energy and skills to create the Museum and through it continue to give back to our community. We invite you to be a part of the team.

Here's a sample of the work to be done. If you’re willing to learn, we will train you for the job. Contact the Museum to volunteer: 732-531-2136 or oceannuseum.org.
